

Southmead Project Coronavirus Closure Notice

We hope that everyone is staying safe and well during this difficult and uncertain time around the outbreak of coronavirus (COVID-19).

We unfortunately are having to close our Southmead Project office due to the recent advice and new measures set out by the government. We are unable to say how long we will stay closed, but we will keep our clients updated. We will be working from home during this time and will not have access to our office phone or voicemail, but please e-mail us on admin@southmeadproject.com if you need to get in touch.

Our waiting list for counselling will temporarily close and we will not be accepting new referrals until our office re-opens.

We had hoped to hold interviews for the volunteer counsellor position in April that is currently being advertised on Voscur. We are unfortunately going to have to postpone these interviews and we will be in touch with candidates about shortlisting when we re-open.

We are deeply sorry for any inconvenience and disappointment that this may bring. We are thinking of our clients and everyone that is finding this a particularly worrying, distressing or lonely time. We hope that you stay well and we will keep you updated with ideas and information to help and support you as and when we can.
